

Let's paint and paint some more!

Join Fred Ekman and Terry Banderas, local painters, as they show you how they create the elements that go into a successful rural painting. In this workshop we'll concentrate on drawing and painting mailboxes. Future workshops in this series will include trees, rocks, bridges, streams, rivers and skies. The final workshop of this six-month series will be a culmination of all we've learned.

The new reduced tuition for each 4-hour workshop is $60 and includes demonstrations, individualized instruction, handouts, some materials*, breakfast nibbles, and lunch from our seasonal menu (some restrictions apply, contact Fred for specifics).

Space is limited and is reserved on a first-paid-first-served basis. Your full remittance reserves your space. Intermediate or advanced drawing skills are not necessary. a material list will be sent to registrants upon receipt of tuition*

Fred Ekman's "career in art" actually started in his mid-teens when he began drafting and rendering for his father's architectural firm in Phoenix, Arizona. "It didn't pay well, but I had so much fun drawing and painting that it didn't matter," says Ekman.

Upon completing his undergraduate work in fine art and his graduate work in education at Long Beach State College in 1958, Fred began a 42-year career in teaching and training; now, fully retired, Fred is pursuing a lifetime dream of painting, traveling, painting, traveling and painting some more!

The Ekmans' Lincoln Hills Sun City home and studio walls are filled with paintings of European villages, California coastal landscapes and the red rocks of southwestern sites to which he and his wife travel and teach on an on-going basis. Fred teaches drawing and painting locally, and now at La Provence Restaurant & Terrace!

Visit La Provence Restaurant & Terrace to view Fred's paintings. Why not purchase a painting for yourself or for someone else...
